

The image displays ten identical sets of primary writing lines, arranged vertically. Each set consists of three horizontal lines: a top line, a middle line, and a bottom line. The top and bottom lines are decorated with small, stylized scroll-like flourishes at both the left and right ends. The middle line is a simple horizontal line. The sets are intended for handwriting practice, specifically for writing without a roofline (loft).